of the worst storms generally in New England began a cleanup today of the havoc wrought by lightning and a 100 miles an hour wind that killed seven persons and took a property toll of approximately $1,000,000.

Lightning bolts claimed four lives.
Two persons were drowned and one was crushed to death by a falling tree.

Springfield Mass., was hard hit by the storm damage there alone totaling nearly $600,000.

An awe-inspiring electrical display accompanied the violent winds. Half stones fell trees were uprooted and traffic and communication was disrupted temporarily.

Marie A. Dubois, 19, of Adams Miss., was killed when she touched the hand of her brother Alfred, who had been felled by a lightning bolt and who struggled enough not to receive severe burns.

Mystery Columbus Shop
Burglary

Columbus July 19—Completely baffled at every turn, police here today were seeking to find a clew into the mysterious Sunday morning of the Fashion Store in which $20,000 in cash and fur pieces, $8,000 in cash on check, $670 in checks were taken.

The theft was discovered by H. D.
Robertson, a firehouse manager who entered the offices at noon. The night watchman in reporting off duty at 5 o'clock in the morning reported nothing disturbed.

Chief of Detectives Shallenberger had declared the theft a mystery.
There were no signs of a forced entrance anywhere and no signs of an automobile or truck having entered the dusty alleyway in the rear since Saturday.

The furs were taken from the third floor and the money and checks from the fifth floor where the safe door was forced.

$26,000 REWARD
BRINGS FRUIT,
OFFICIAL SAYS

Ora Slater, Famous Detective
in Nesbitt Case, Probing
Canton Murder

CONFERS WITH POLICE

May Strike "Pay Dirt" at Any Minute," Special Investi-

Canton July 19—The reward of more than $26,000 offered by citizens and organizations out to avenge Mellett's death and wife out conditions which made the murder possible has brought fruit.

Information which may be of import has been turned in. This was the announcement today of Ora Slater, head of the investigation which has led to the conviction of Mrs. Frances Drake Nesbitt at Troy, Ohio.

Slater said: "Just what they are worth still remains to be seen, but it is probable at least some of them may lead up to the shavers. I am mailing no tips now, but I say that we may still pick up any minute."

Not One Individual

Ora Slater went to work Sunday and by this morning had come to the conclusion that there are certain conditions surrounding the case which promise a solution.

The most promising feature about the case, he said, "is the certainty that there are others besides the man who actually committed the murder who knew that it was to be done and probably know who did it."

This was not the deed of an individual working alone. It probably had been talked over.

That others have information about it is proved by the fact that Mellett was warned by telephone that he would be killed. The person who sent that warning knows who killed him and our job now is to locate him and get him to talk.

Confers With Police
I have received a number of tips.

NAVY AVIATION SECRETARY ASSUMES DUTIES OF NEWLY CREATED OFFICE

Edward P. Warner, new assistant secretary of the navy and in charge of aviation, is seen at his desk at the department taking up his duties as established by a recent act of congress.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR ACCIDENT VICTIM HELD

Funeral services for George Ross Colver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Colver, two and one-half miles east of Marion, were held at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the residence and at 1 o'clock at Zion M. E. Church near the railroad tracks. Rev. B. W. Joy, pastor of Marion Central Methodist Church, officiated.

Colver died from the effects of an injury while on a hunting trip on Saturday, April 14, 1926, after being exposed by Robert O. Blakemore, who had been in the woods all day. Neither man has opposition in the primary, nor does he have any in the general election.

Candidates for judge of the new municipal court, which will become effective in January 1927, enter their nomination and are not subject to the primary. Those who have entered the race are James H. Lyman, Howard J. Olson, William F. Martin and L. V. Thompson. All are running on a nonpartisan ticket and campaigning in the right, it already well under way.

Justice Marion O. Still, democratic representative from Marion, has been nominated for county clerk. Carl A. Abel and Oscar L. McCallister are candidates for the nomination. In the light of facts, according to those in touch with the local political situation, Abel has yet nothing much campaign work. Carl T. Thomas, former county auditor, is the leading candidate for the office, and has no opposition in the November election.

James A. DePalma, republican candidate for judge, and Frank W. Chapman, democratic candidate for County treasurer, both present incumbents, have no opposition in the primaries and no opposition in the November election.

Canton People Stirred to Pitch Over Slaying; Citizens Decry Conditions

Appeal to Their Congregations for Awakening to Real Situation and to Action Looking to Better Conditions in Future

Never in Canton has there been as large a meeting as that can be by the Mellett, Daily News writer cites the victims as most part some of the society or members of the underworld. It was a wonder of the underworld caught and then well be accomplished sooner or later.

Pastors Urge Use

The pastors of city churches made the Mellett murder a part of their services yesterday. They appealed to the congregations for an awakening to the real situation and to action looking to better things in the future.

Mellett was not the only man in whom threats were made with summer punishment for his crusade on crime. Rev. W. H. Longsworth, pastor of First Congregational Church, some time ago made a night for a cleanup of the underworld and his life was threatened.

Rev. Mr. Bushard of Brandt's Calvary Presbyterian Church said:

I thank God that there comes from time to time an editor who has the courage to speak his convictions. Please give your breath when you ask me to keep still. I glory in the first amendment of the constitution of the United States. It guarantees freedom of worship, freedom of speech and of the press.

Unselfish Fighter

Rev. Alfred Lee Wilson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church said:

Mellett was a fearless fighter for righteousness. A worker in our church, Citizens of Canton are we willing to hold our heads and say there is nothing wrong with this city. A city government is just as good as a city deserves. In two weeks of the primaries less than two-thirds of the qualified voters will go to the polls and perform their civic duties unless there is a great moral revival in Canton.

Rev. Jesse S. Daney, First M. E. Church, Marion, said the condition in Canton is bad before its influence on civilization has been challenged in our community. The right of man to voice an opinion on politics has been challenged. Such challenges as this will continue to take place until the Christians of this country realize that Christ has stewardship of the conscience, it is recalled. Why did they kill this man? They wanted to cow you and me to prevent us from entering into their nefarious affairs. Why did they think they could do this? There expert once with those who interpret the law justified them in believing the can least evil people believe they have a certain right because politics recognizes the right of persons to buy and sell voters.

Asks Renewed Interest

The murderers should be punished. I have great doubts that it will be done. Judging the future from the past the Americans have become dull. We are afraid to express ourselves when we differ with the accepted standards.

Rev. William L. Bridge, First Baptist Church, pleaded for renewed interest in government and in evangelism.

During the past year the people were letting government ship out of their hands. In his prayer he asked for divine guidance for the workers attempting to solve the mystery of the Mellett murder that civic consciousness be quickened and the doors of hell be brought to justice and punished.

In the case of Mr. Longsworth his life was saved by one who is accredited with being the "king of the underworld" or rather the famous James J. Cagney. He not only saved his own life but saved his house from being dynamited. Longsworth kept his fight for some time in spite of threats but he finally gave up because he was fighting alone and failed to get a bit of support from the underworld element of society in the

"HOT FOOT" BY OFFICER RESTORES HEARING AND VOICE OF WAR VET

George Gibbs, Princess Par Veteran

George Gibbs, Princess Par Veteran

LAWRENCE, Mass., July 12.—When Officer Henry French heard loud snoring in a vacant house at 49 Auburn St. at 1 o'clock Sunday morning he decided to investigate. He found George Gibbs snoring, a perfect fit in a just slept. Other Rochel did what he thought his duty—kicked Gibbs in the foot and flushed his light in his face.

The result was surprising. Gibbs was a member of the Princess Par regiment, which was the 1st of Canada during the war. During one of the engagements he was so shocked at the result that he lost his hearing and ability to speak. That was nine years ago. Gibbs came to Lawrence after the war to a former employer, Harry Nixon, who employed Gibbs about his garage and permitted him to sleep in the vacant house unknown to either house.

Gibbs was awakened in the verous kick of the officer. He came frightened at the sudden dash in his face and exclaimed, "A fool!"

Gibbs was startled. It was the first time he had spoken in nine years and the next time he did he heard the sound of a honest voice. His speech and hearing were restored by the shock.

Immediately Gibbs grabbed a newspaper laying on the floor and started to read it. The blow of the officer's hand. "Yes, sir," he spoke and snored. He rushed across the road to the garage of his old employer and borrowed the car. He asked that in case of trouble motor be started so he could hear it. It took enough trouble to start the night watchman's car in minutes to turn him off to the shock of hearing Gibbs talk. The motor was started and Gibbs ran enthusiastically.

Now Gibbs, hearing for the first time in nine years, is often invited to performances or the theater to hear the music.

Benedict Says City Will Not Do Work If Company Continues

Not so long as the C. M. & B. company working on the improvement of the N. Main St. it will take to hand in the matter, Service Director O. A. Benedict, in Toledo, would say if the repair work of the corporation of the other day had been done by Whaley's general manager, G. H. Lanning.

So far as we know the company has been working on repairing of tracks he added, and the city will take every opportunity to get it done as soon as possible.

Again, if three days ago it was C. M. & B. tracks on which the corporation started its tracks on N. Main St., nothing can be issued by city council. We do the night.

Twenty were hurt when the Detroit-Pittsburgh night express jumped the track near Summitville, Ohio. Four of the men east in the train were overturned and struck on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania Railroad was held up for 1½ hours. LAST RITES FOR SLAIN PUBLISHER

Indianapolis, Ind., July 19.—The body of John R. Mellett, 51-year-old publisher of the Union Daily News was laid to rest in Crown Hill Cemetery here today following an interment ceremony.

The funeral services were under the direction of the Rev. Alexander Shapinston of First Interdenominational Church of Columbus, Ind., where Mellett published his first newspaper.

The pallbearers were J. L. Clark and Joseph Staley of Columbus; W. J. Burton of Indianapolis; and D. E. Bessire of Nashville, Ind., all close friends of the assassinated editor.

Services of the police department and discussed the case with several officers of the department although he will work independently of them.

Sister is now working for the county of Stark. He was brought here to make an investigation by the Serials Howard organization but as a confidential witness to question him concerning his work in the hit of the man.

Determined to run down the Mellett slayer, he turned the entire association of a concentration of resources in the search. The article is now being written continually on the case since Mellett was killed.

that village. Mr. Veltell, trees and telephone poles were broken along the road in that area. All corn stalks and the tops in the two miles strip to a distance of three miles were totally destroyed.

Barren south of Prospect also felt the force of the storm. Corn and other crops were flattened to the ground. The rain accompanied the storm in the southern part of the county.

Marion, though threatened, several times escaped damage. At one point it was exposed to a severe electrical storm and a few hundred yards away a tree fell around the top.

Automobile Damaged

A new Cadillac coupe of Charles Phillips, of this city, was damaged by a severe wind standing in front of the home of W. S. Hastings four miles south of Marion. Mr. Phillips was visiting the Hastings home at the time the storm struck that morning. The storm struck some of which measured eight to ten inches in circumference, denting the side and rear of the car and crashing through the top.

The results of acts of man in Huron county near Marion are a total loss, except of the storm reports from that tract indicated fully.

A long time in the farm of Willard Hollen, far north southwest of Marion, a large storm set off a lightning bolt which struck the house and its contents, including a large amount of furniture and implements were destroyed.

A purchased station wagon on the west floor of the barn was killed.

The barn on the farm of Neil Pearce west of Marion was destroyed by fire caused by lightning. The loss placed at $1,500 is partly covered by insurance.

A large storage shed of the Scott farm near McMechen was also destroyed by fire after it had been struck by lightning. The loss is placed at $1,000.

At the Willis Wilson farm near Mt. Victory, a large bank barn was blown from its foundation and destroyed. This loss will touch close to $10,000.

Ridgely New Roof

At the Philip Coughlin home five miles west of Marscilles, the heavy fall of rain drenched a new shingle roof of the house, broke off the shingles in the eaves of the house and damaged the furniture and rug.

Where the storm had subsided the barn in front of the Coughlin home was covered with a thick mesh layer of twigs. At the west side of the house there was an 18 inch bank of fallen stones.

At the Dennis Mitchell farm near Kelley's Creek, near Marion, corn and oats crops were cut by flying hail and buried to the whitened sides of the fields. A large flock of chickens caught before they could gain shelter were killed by the large hail stones.

Man Achieves Most When He Devotes His Lifework to Interests of Others

Rev. Raymond W. Smiley Gives Sermon at Union Services in Trinity Baptist Church; Tells of Men Who Gave Up World for Religious Work

WE reach our best by doing our best to the interest of others," declared Rev. Raymond W. Smiley, pastor of First Presbyterian Church in his sermon at the union church services in Trinity Baptist Church last night.

That is the law of existence. He who follows that law, adds to his own happiness and sometimes life for the sake of the people of the world.

He named three who gave up the world for the sake of others and the love of the spirit and a life of God.

The first was Paul, for whom he had much influence. In his fall he became a power for good and left behind him an influence for good which reverberates to this day.

The second was St. Francis of Assisi, whose life was one of poverty and many years of labor in the service of God, for whose sake he gave up luxury and ease.

He cited Martin Luther of Germany, the founder of the Lutheran Church.

He said up a career of a law or to be the great king & now reborn that he would live to faith.

He said the Marion star has been a great teacher to give him the way of the poor to be saved.

He said the world is growing worse.

He adds that the "jazz period", with its smoking and drinking among women, is causing many to lose their way.

He said that the world is growing worse.
